The CAA team wears the “ie” with pride!

On International Blouse Day, colleagues from the Civil Aviation Authority proudly wore the “ie” – a symbol of national identity, our roots, and timeless elegance.

In an institution that regulates flight and always looks toward the future, we do not forget what connects us to the past. The “ie” is more than traditional clothing – it is a story carefully stitched by hand, a sign of belonging, and a tribute to our heritage.

We wear the “ie” with pride, history on our shoulders and Moldova in our hearts, honoring the traditions and values that unite us.
